

Chris Eltiste

Senior Consultant and Co-Lead
Profitability Benchmarking Practice

Chris is a profitability benchmarking co-lead and senior consultant at GVGroup.

He has six years of experience working as a consultant in the financial services industry and has worked on numerous cost analysis and benchmarking studies that included many of the top 25 US-based bankcard issuers.

Chris managed the analytic review of all client results from these studies, comparing data, processes, and technology applications against industry averages in order to ensure quality and consistency.

He was also responsible for identifying opportunities for efficiency improvements, product and service enhancements, and cost reductions to increase overall profitability for credit, debit, and commercial card products.

Chris received a Business Management degree from Brigham Young University with an emphasis in Finance.
